

October 19, 2011

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WCGuru contact: Jackie@wcguru.com

219-614-3987

Seminar to Educate Those Involved in Work Comp

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—With the theme of InSights, the 4th annual worker’s compensation seminar, hosted by the northwest Indiana chapter of the organization Indiana Workers Compensation Institute (IWCI) aims to provide attendees with the latest “insights” into the work comp industry. Designed to encourage interaction, sharing of best practices and networking, the all-day seminar is for anyone engaged in the practice of worker’s compensation.

“This event is unique because it allows attendees to create their own education”, said Trudy Tieman, IWCI President of the northwest chapter. “The smaller break-out sessions have a more personalized, small group feel.” Tieman credits the uniqueness of the seminar with its layout and presentation of topics with the increasing involvement from organizations throughout the state. “Our setting gives attendees the ability to ask questions to presenters, many in a round-table setting. And our two panels, one focusing on returning to work and the other focusing on the legal aspects of work comp will bring the entire seminar together at the end”, said Tieman.

The northwest Indiana chapter of IWCI is celebrating its 20th year of service, and has hosted three previous seminars. Each annual seminar by the northwest chapter is free of charge for attendees.

Source: WCGuru.com

###

About IWCI

IWCI's is a nonprofit organization with a mission to promote and conduct programs of general education in worker's compensation and related areas, assist members in improving their skills so that they continue to be an asset to their employer and provide financial support for charitable organizations and educational institutions that benefit the area of worker's compensation. For more information visit www.iwci.org

About WCGuru.com

WCGuru.com, is an online, interactive, news and information portal dedicated to the worker's compensation professional community in Indiana and focuses on providing insight into practical issues helping to maximize a user's time when searching for news and contact information for workers compensation law, insurance providers, employers, case managers and physicians in Indiana. The site also provides various links to worker's compensation rules, statutes, resources, forms and offers a path for guidance on workplace injuries and disabilities. For more information visit www.wcguru.com