Worker's Compensation Website Provides Unique Service to Hoosiers

The recently launched WCGuru.com, an interactive community, news and information portal dedicated to the workers compensation professional in Indiana, will be unveiling a work comp database in the spring. Currently, Indiana professionals working in the arena or worker's compensation can access the website for answers to work comp questions. Starting in the spring, access will be live to a work comp database, listing doctors, lawyers, case managers and insurance companies who specialize in the area of worker's compensation.

"We're a hub of information for the Indiana Work Comp Community", said Cathy Rogers, President of WCGuru.com. "Our goal is to be the stopping point for Indiana Work Comp Professionals."

Developed and maintained by leaders in the industry, WCGuru.com's focus is to provide insight into practical issues and help maximize the user's time when searching for news and contact information for employers, workers comp law, insurance providers, case management and physicians in Indiana. The site also lists work comp forms, rules, statutes, resources, and provides the path for guidance on workplace injuries and disabilities.
